

Appalachian Institute of Digital Evidence Membership Application

v1.5

To further its work, AIDE seeks individuals who reflect the excellence and diversity of today's fields of technology and law enforcement and the legal profession. Those who qualify for membership will combine character and ability with proven professional standing. Members will strive to make significant contributions to the fields of technology and law enforcement, to the legal profession, and to society at large, enjoying opportunities to develop their skills and carry out important work while forging valuable friendships and professional relationships with other members. Members are expected to take an active role in AIDE's activities by consulting and sharing information with one another, participating in committee work relating to AIDE projects, attending or presenting at regional and annual conferences, and commenting on drafts of position statements prepared by AIDE.
